WIL. SCHOOL COMMITTEE DRAWS IRON CURTAIN

NO DISCUSSION MOTION WON BY MAJORITY VOTE - 3 TO 2

by Confusing Confucius

Over-ruling the opposition's contention that it was an illegal act, and in what probably should be classified as a last, desperate attempt to avoid the spotlight of publicity that has been focused upon its past actions, the Wilmington School Committee, by a three to two vote at its last meeting, forced through a motion designed to silence its members by forbidding their discussing school problems either in public or in private. This arrogant and un-democratic "gag-rule" is intended particularly to prevent any future criticism in the public press by reducing the Committee's news releases to dull and drab recitations of completed business.

Despite the fact that, on numerous occasions, individual members of the Committee have reiterated that "the doors of the School Committee always are open," this most recent action can be interpreted as not only slamming the door in the face of the public, but also as reinforcing the closed door with the infamous iron curtain currently popular in certain countries whose ideology is contrary to the principles of American democracy. It is inconceivable that even those members who voted in favor of this rule shall, themselves, adhere to its meaning by refusing to discuss school problems outside of the committee meetings. Such adherence might be considered as above human nature as we know it.

It is doubly difficult to understand the Committee's taking this backward step at a time when thousands of American men are fighting — and hundreds dying — in faraway Korea for a symbol that is known euphemistically as "World Freedom." Shall this freedom be denied them in their own home towns by forbidding the publication of information that is of the public's interest. The first move of any dictator is the suppression of a free press. But in liberty-loving, democratic America this free press is guaranteed by the Bill of Rights embodied in our Constitution.

Other Wilmington committees welcome the attention of the public press and even consider its relationship important. Press representatives attend each meeting of our Board of Selectmen and are welcome to listen to the frank and outspoken discussions that take place there. This mutual trust and respect keynotes all relations of the Selectmen with the press and tends to have the general public feel confident in the open integrity of the Board's actions. In the fact of this freedom of action, it is apparent that the Selectmen have nothing to hide from the public. However, our School Committee not only forbids the presence of press representatives at its meetings, — it also forbids the presence of press representatives at its meetings, — it also forbids its members to discuss its pertinent problems outside of the committee room. We trust that none of them talks in his sleep.

Not only do we sincerely congratulate the two committee members who voted against the passage of such an un-American ruling, but we also offer added high praise to the one who is reported to have challenged the enforcement of it by allegedly stating that "the particular problems of the Wilmington School Committee also are the particular problems of the Wilmington residents, and I intend to discuss these problems both in public and in private wherever and whenever I am so inclined. We are spending public monies here and I believe that the public has a right to know what we are trying to accomplish."

From the vote against this imperious ruling, it is apparent that at least two members of the School Committee believe that they are expected to set a pattern for the processes they hope to see at work in our school system. And if we, as citizens of America, are expected to educate our children to live in a democratic society, we have the right to expect our School Committee to operate in keeping with the finest democratic principles. It is our opinion that the School Committee violated these principles when it attempted to gag its members.

Because the Constitution also guarantees the freedom of speech.

35 Wilmington Boys See Red Sox-Browns Game

35 Wilmington lads left Wilmington last Wednesday to see the St. Louis Browns vs. the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park. The boys left in a bus sponsored by Fred Cain, the tickets were supplied by friends of George Spanos and the bus and boys were chaperoned by the Wilmington VFW. Louie Elfmán was chairman of refreshments. The boys had a wonderful time, incidentally the Sox won. The youngster who was apparently in charge of the other boys was Chief of the Captains, Paul MacMullin.

Local Police To Cooperate In Labor Day Safety Drive

The Wilmington Police Department will cooperate with the Massachusetts Safety Council in an intensive campaign to prevent needless traffic accidents over the coming Labor Day holiday, Police Chief Paul J. Lynch announced today. John Trainor announced today.

Chief Lynch pointed out that, according to the Massachusetts Safety Council, holiday traffic deaths have been increasing throughout the nation at an alarming rate during the past few years. Each of the holiday periods have been reaching new heights in tragedy. The Labor Day weekend toll alone last year was 410 immediate traffic deaths — the highest Labor Day toll in history. The 1950 observance of the holiday threatens to be as tragic as 1949 unless enforcement agencies, individuals, and organizations interested in safety do everything possible to prevent a recurrence.

An extensive enforcement and educational campaign was carried on throughout Massachusetts over the recent Fourth of July holiday. All enforcement agencies did an extremely complete job of policing the Massachusetts highways during the holiday. The Massachusetts Safety Council, through the media of the press, the radio, and distribution of promotional materials to its membership, conducted an extensive educational campaign. That all this paid off is now common knowledge, for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts had the best holiday safety record in the nation, — and the value of an insistent safety campaign was proven by the results obtained.

"We are determined to maintain this record over the coming Labor Day holiday," Chief Lynch stated. "It is generally agreed that rigid enforcement of traffic laws plays a big part in keeping down the toll of highway accidents. But to make such enforcement possible, the public must be willing not only to accept it, but demand it. Traffic officers must know that their efforts will be supported and are, in fact, expected. The Wilmington Police Department will do everything in its power to make the streets of Wilmington safe. It is the responsibility of everyone to support our efforts in this campaign by observing the following: obey all traffic rules and regulations, obey traffic signs and signals, take it easy on the road and don't speed, be courteous to other drivers and pedestrians, and above all, don't drive while drinking. "If we all work together, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will maintain its good holiday record of Traffic Safety."

STATE SENDS RESULTS OF HATHAWAY ACRE PROBE

During the past few months the Board of Selectmen (The Board of Health) have been conducting an investigation of the Hathaway Acres Development in North Wilmington. This action is the result of complaints of some of the residents of that development who stated that the land was very low and therefore poor drainage was the result. The drainage problem, so the complainants stated, was a major problem and affected the health situation in that area. The Board of Selectmen (The Board of Health) investigated the complaint and asked the State Department of Public Health to conduct an investigation into the matter. The State has complied with the Board's request, Monday evening the following letter was made public by the Board of Selectmen.

"In response to the verbal request of Mr. K. M. Lyons, member of your Board, for the advice of this Department relative to sewerage disposal at a housing development known as Hathaway Acres near the corner of Woburn and Salem Streets in North Wilmington, The Department of Public Health has caused the location to be examined by one of its engineers and samples of soil to be analyzed.

"It is understood that this development, which consists of about 60 acres, will contain 150 houses, a number of which already have been constructed. It is understood that difficulties have been experienced in disposing of sewerage at some of the newly constructed houses. The sewage from the houses in question is said to be discharged to steel septic tanks of 500 gallon capacity, the overflow being discharged through a pipe laid in stone-filled trench to dry wells. The length of the drains varies from 20 to 50 feet and the capacity of the dry wells from 2 to 4 cubic yards.

"Sewage from houses to be built in the future is to be discharged to cesspools of cement-block construction which are to have a capacity of about 500 gallons each. In order to correct the conditions caused by high ground water it is understood that it is proposed to provide drainage in the form of a channel to be constructed beside the bed of an existing brook. No survey has been made to determine whether the proposed drainage channel will have a free outlet at the point of its discharge in the adjacent swamp.

"Samples of soil collected from test pits in lots No. 6, 33, and 39 in this development showed upon analysis that the soil consisted mostly of comparatively fine sand.

"In view of the rather high ground water conditions as reported, the Department is of the opinion that unless proper drainage works are provided at this development, the disposal of sewage by means of dry wells or cesspools will result in objectionable conditions, especially during the wet season. The Department therefore recommends that at the locations where high ground water levels may occur the sewage be disposed of by means of suitable septic tanks, the effluent from which would be discharged to sub-surface filters constructed of sand of proper size at such an elevation as not to be affected by high ground water conditions.

"Should you care to discuss this matter further or obtain additional information relative thereto, you should consult with the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the Department of Public Health, Room 511A, State House, Boston. Respectfully, Vlado A. Getting, Commissioner."

Prior to this letter the Planning Board released its restriction placed on two of five lots that they had previously placed in an unsuitable class because of improper drainage. Since that restriction was imposed suitable drainage has been constructed so that the Planning Board felt that the restrictions could be lifted on the two lots.

The Board of Selectmen are formulating a plan to combat this menace but as yet have not arrived at a definite or suitable means.

TRUCK CRASHES INTO POLE NEAR NORTH WOBURN LINE

Wilmington Police responded to an emergency call early this morning at 4:55 a.m. Officer Shepard investigated the call in the police cruiser and Chief Lynch followed in the ambulance. Arriving at the scene police found a truck operated by Walter E. Strow of Burt Road, Wilmington, badly damaged after colliding with a telephone pole near Bob Warner's gasoline station on Main Street near the North Woburn line. The pole was snapped off at the base and was lying, half suspended, across the street.

Strow maintains that he struck the pole but that he had not snapped it off. He claims that the pole was already across the road for that reason couldn't avoid hitting it. Strow stated that his truck struck the pole as he was applying the brakes, damaging the top of his truck, smashing the windshield and the right front fender. No one was injured in the crash.

Woburn police were on the scene and the Reading Municipal Light Department sent an emergency crew to replace the pole this morning.

Several other motorists struck the pole but no damage has been reported.

There are two diametrically opposed views concerning the origin of the Korean War. One is that it was stimulated by the Russians on the theory that the United States and its allies would do nothing more than write formal letters of protest; that the North Koreans would overwhelm the ill-equipped South Korean defenders in a couple of weeks or so, and that another nation would easily be added to those within the Kremlin's sphere of influence. If that view is correct, the Russians could not have been more wrong.

The other view is grim. It is that Russia anticipated in advance what we would do, and that it was a deliberate, Kremlin-conceived trip. We would spend our resources in Korea, while Russia contributed nothing to the conflict except some equipment and top leadership. In due time, this view holds, the same thing will happen elsewhere—in Iran, Formosa, perhaps Europe. The West will be forced to spread itself paper thin all around the world. Eventually, it will be bled white, and then Russia, with her strength unimpaired, will move in for the kill.

That view is enough to send chills down any spine. There is no question but what a basic Soviet technique is to have other peoples do the fighting. The Asiatics are particularly useful grist in this kind of a mill. They are fatalistic and fanatical. Human life has small value in their eyes. Americans who have been at the Korean front have all been impressed by one dreadful fact—no matter how many of the enemy are slaughtered, they keep on coming in wave after wave.

However, a strong case can be made on behalf of the view that this time the Kremlin woefully misjudged the temper of the United States. The Korean war has done more than any single thing since World War II to cement the Western nations. The United Nations is no longer just a debating society on the international level—it is a belligerent, and its flag flies in South Korea. The war is a UN, not merely a U. S. operation.

The most encouraging thing that has happened so far has been the response to Trygve Lie's appeal to the UN membership for substantial aid in Korea, including trained ground troops. An impressive list of countries has responded. In many instances, the size of the forces dispatched will necessarily be very small, but the total will be considerable. And, going beyond purely military considerations, the fact that many countries will be physically represented in the actual fighting in Korea must certainly cause some hard thinking in the Politburo. At last, the ranks of the anti-communist world—and it is most of the world—are gathering.

Sometime ago Herbert Hoover proposed the creation of a United Nations without Russia and her satellites. This may come about through the force of events. Russia is still a member, of course, but she has small influence now. The great majority of members has served final notice that communist aggression must stop.

You Can't Live Without Pride

America is such a rich and wonderful country that it is easy for us to think ourselves superior to the people of other countries.

We don't precisely feel superior because we are richer and they are poorer in the goods of the world. Oh, it's true that some of us feel superior in this way, but for the most of us the feeling is more subtle - even unconscious. It is a feeling that just grew up with us from our earliest days of hearing and reading about people in other parts of the world. Examine your own mind and see if this isn't true.

Didn't you, as a youngster, think that the people of India were not very bright because they were pictured as being so very poor? And didn't you think the Chinese were not as high up in this world as you because they ate rice with chopsticks while you ate beefsteak with a knife and a fork? And didn't you look down on the people of Africa because they went barefoot and dressed in blankets, while you wore shoes made of leather and coats and hats (well, some of us wore hats!) that were sewed on machines and fastened with buttons and bows?

Childish feelings, of course, and we like to believe that we outgrew them as we outgrew our children's clothing. But I wonder if we have. I wonder if a part of the reason why we are not more disturbed by the clamping down of iron curtains over so many countries of Asia and Europe is the deep-down feeling that the people in those unhappy lands don't deserve any better. If so, the feeling is wrong.

There is the Christian view of the world, you know, which makes it appear that all people are intended to be members of one body. That is close membership - so close that St. Paul wondered how one member could suffer without all the members suffering.

If individuals around us are suffering from loss of self-respect, we can sometimes assist them by a word of kindness or perhaps a bit of substantial help. That's easy to see. But there are large groups of people - and whole nations - that are suffering from loss of self-respect. Helping them is not so easy, but it is still a Christian obligation. We ought not to remain idle and silent when we see that groups of people and nations are being denied their rights as members of the human family.

A news report tells about a child being burned to death in a flaming house. It is alleged that people on a party telephone line wouldn't give up the line. They held it for ten minutes, it is alleged, though told it was an emergency call, and prevented the fire from being promptly reported. In this case probably the fire department's prompt response would not have saved the child's life; but such selfishness is hard to understand.

Please Read Signs!!

Some people just can't read. That was the thought that Ken, the Macintero bus driver thought as some young lady of this town put five pennies in the machine that had signs all around it, "Please do not drop pennies in."

Information For Veterans; Questions And Answers

Q—I applied for disability compensation for pulmonary tuberculosis, and my claim was turned down by VA. I think I am now eligible under the new law increasing the "presumptive period" for tuberculosis to three years after discharge. Must I submit another application?

A—No. VA will review automatically the case records of all World War II veterans whose applications for compensation based on alleged service-connected pulmonary tuberculosis have been rejected.

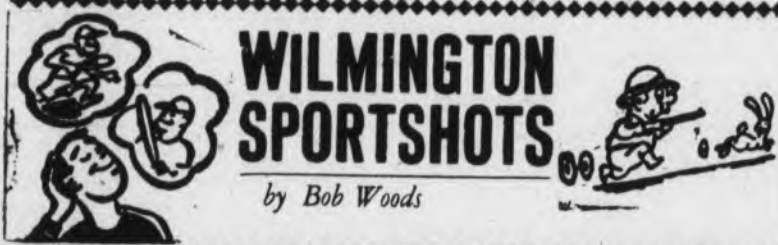

Q—If I get a GI home loan, how much of a down payment am I required to make, under VA's new ruling to conserve essential material and labor?

A—In the case of automatic loans made by supervised lenders, you must pay all closing costs in cash. In the case of other loans requiring prior VA approval, you will be required to make a cash down payment of an amount equal to at least five per cent of the purchase price or construction cost.

Q—My son is a war veteran and a patient in a State Hospital. Am I required to pay for his board, or should it be paid by VA?

A—VA may not assume maintenance unless hospitalization is indicated for treatment of a service-connected disability, and the VA determines a bed is not available in a VA facility. Payment may be made by VA only from the time care is authorized.

WILMINGTON SPORTSHOTS

by Bob Woods

The Wilmington Town Team finally found out who they will meet in the league finals Sunday. The Varney AA gained the berth in the Suburban Two League finals by defeating Chelmsford by a score of 5 to 2.

Wilmington has been idle for two weeks, we hope that they have not lost the spirit and team play that carried them into the finals by defeating West Concord in two straight games. The boys have been practicing enough to keep the rust off so I think it will be a good series, and a close one.

Turning to football the High School squad is coming along nicely. The boys have a lot of hustle and I think that they will be in good shape in less than another week. The uniforms will be given out some time this week, then the tough work begins. The burden of the team will rest on Don O'Connell, Jerry O'Reilly, Bob Surette, Charles Baldwin and Lloyd Belvin who last year broke his collarbone. These boys are all vets of last year so we should see plenty of fine football.

We regret to see assistant coach Ralph Ambrose called into the service. Best of luck, Ralph.

Mary J. McCormack Rates Belated Orchid

Although this story goes back to early summer, before the life guard was installed it is the opinion of many residents of the Lake that Mary June McCormack of 7126 Grove Avenue should be commended for rescuing a little boy who went into the water to retrieve a floating ball. Although there were many bathers present, Mary was the only one who noticed the youngster go down and not appear again and she promptly went to his aid and picked him up and revived him.

Veronica Tovey Feted on 20th Birthday

On the occasion of her 20th birthday, Miss Virginia Tovey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tovey of 6 Winchell Road was given a party at a well-known Boston night club by a small group of intimate friends. Among those present were Fred Lilly of Massachusetts Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Parsons of Tewksbury.

Wilmington Theatre Changes Hands

In a letter to the Board of Selectmen, Attorney William T. Shepard, representing the Royal Theatre of Lowell, Inc., stated: "The Royal Theatre of Lowell, Inc., has leased the Wilmington Theatre on Main Street in Wilmington to Samuel Feldman of Winchendon, Mass. d-b-a The S. Feldman Enterprises. The date of the beginning of the lease is September 1, 1950. Please transfer all licenses to him."

The Board agreed that they could not transfer the licenses but on application of Mr. Feldman granted a Sunday license and a week-day license to him.

CONFUSING CONFUCIUS

VFW HOSTS—

Thirty-three Wilmington boys were guests of the local VFW post at last Wednesday's Red Sox-St. Louis Browns' baseball game at Fenway Park, and the sponsors highly praised the conduct of the group throughout the trip. Accompanying the boys who were transported in a bus donated by Fred Cain were Joseph S. Kelley, who also acted as bus driver, - George Shepard, John A. Ritchie, Louis Elfman and George Spanos. Following the return trip a delegation of grateful boys thoroughly cleaned the bus. A special accolade should be awarded to both George Spanos and Louis Elfman for their unsolicited generosity in providing refreshments for the boys.

The VFW is planning to play host to a much larger group next year.

CUTTER CANDIDATE—

The extended lack of local representation in the state government possibly could come to a sudden end this year if the Wilmington voters were to back solidly the candidacy of Simon Cutter for Governor's Council. Cutter's candidacy should be considered most seriously by the local Republicans when they cast their primary ballot on Tuesday, September 19th. One of the many aspiring for this office from the sixth district. Attorney Cutter is the only candidate who resides in the northern section of the district that extends to Lowell. The other nearest candidate lives in Melrose. Attorney Cutter's qualifications for the office are well-known to the voters of Wilmington and it should not be necessary to detail them in this space.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES—

Recently returned from his vacation, Chairman Lyons presided at the meeting of the Board of Selectmen last Monday night. . . . No conclusive action was taken on the appointment for Fire Chief from among the several applicants for that position. . . . A long discussion was held with Street Superintendent James White not only on routine matters but also on the numerous problems posed by State engineers for improving conditions at several dangerous street intersections throughout the town. . . . Permission granted Mr. White to cooperate with the School Building Committee in repairing and maintaining the road shoulder on Church Street in front of the new High School. . . . Chapter 90 improvements on Route 62 at Middlesex and Salem Streets scheduled to start this week. . . . New jury list drawn and approved. . . . Discussed many Board of Health matters. . . . Polls open for State Primary on Tuesday, September 19th, from 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. . . . Complaint regarding condition of Church Street sidewalk abutting the Walker School referred to the School Committee. . . . Selectmen will meet next Tuesday evening instead of Monday. . . . Application for license by Feldman Enterprises, new owners of the Wilmington Theatre. . . .

LOCAL BASEBALL—

The Varney AA eliminated Chelmsford from the Suburban Two-light league play-offs last Sunday and is scheduled to meet the Wilmington Town Team in a three-game series for the championship starting next Sunday. Wilmington previously had eliminated West Concord in two straight games. This year's final series is unusual for this league in that first-place Varney and second-place Wilmington will be battling for the championship. In other years either or both of the two top teams were eliminated in the play-offs. The several hundred spectators at last Sunday's game at North Chelmsford forms a sad commentary on the lack of public support given the local team that has played well enough to reach the league finals.

LOCAL FOOTBALL—

The Wilmington High School 1950 football squad should have no complaints on lack of conditioning when it starts this Fall's scheduled competition. With a week's training already behind them the local boys are rounding into shape and soon will be physically stronger and tougher than any team of recent years. The Alumni team will report for practice in the near future, and, with the possibility on an age or weight limit for this year's Alumni team, next month's classic should well be worth watching.

LABOR DAY SPORTS—

There will be something doing from noon till dusk at the Silver Lake Beach next Monday afternoon when the local Park Department conducts an end-of-the-season sports and entertainment program. Nearly all the trophies and awards this year are being donated by the Wilmington Rotary. Prizes will be awarded to the finalists in boat and swimming races, horseshoe contest, decorated doll carriage and bicycle parades, and other races and games. Innovations in this year's celebration will be the holding of a baby contest and a beauty contest. It is expected that the Park Department will be swamped with applications for judging positions in the latter contest.

In addition to the foregoing events there shall be life-saving demonstrations and the award of Red Cross certificates to those who successfully concluded this season's training under Life Guard Eddie Forrest. Music will be provided for the entertainment of those who wish to dance on the concrete apron. Concession booths will be in operation throughout the day by local organizations who have been contacted by Park Superintendent George Cushing. Superintendent Cushing requests that any organization he may have missed in his hurried canvas of the Town make arrangements with him for booth locations.

OFF THE CUFF—

Local police department had a busy week-end with traffic accidents and minor sneak-thieves. . . . There still is an outside possibility that a brick block will be erected on the corner of Church and Main Streets. . . . Two out of six local boys passed their draft physicals last Friday. . . . Be a careful driver this week-end. . . .

KINDERGARTEN TO HIGH

Send your children back to school with clothes that are clean and crisp. . . . Fresh from our plant. . . . Ready to make your child feel like a million. . . . And while your at it why don't you join the parade of new customers, enjoy the finest quantity cleaning available in Wilmington today at prices that will suit your budget.

DUTCH ELM DISEASE

The threat to our beautiful elms is still on. New towns reported as infected trees are Arlington, No. Reading, and Waltham. Other towns in Middlesex County where diseased trees have been found this year are Ashland, Lowell, Maynard, Medford, Melrose, Natick, Reading, Stoneham, and Winchester. It will only be by the finest cooperation on the part of our citizens, tree wardens, and town officials that we will be able to keep this disease in check and save our elms.

A large percentage of chicken feeding problems can be explained by the fact that farmers fail to mix concentrates properly with their home-grown grains.

Junior-Senior High School To Be Dedicated Sept. 10

The Dedication Committee has informed this paper that the new Wilmington Junior-Senior High School will be dedicated Sunday, September 10th. All of Wilmington's citizens and friends are urged to attend this important event.

The Committee has asked Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers to attend as the principal speaker, there has been no confirmation as to whether she has accepted the invitation. There will be, however, a band and other interesting persons in attendance. Veterans' organizations will participate as well as other organizations in town. A flag raising ceremony and the laying of the corner stone will be highlights of the dedication. The school will be open to the public for inspection from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The Committee will start their drive for dedication funds Thursday and will carry it through Friday and Saturday of this week. Each member is requested to sell as many "friendships" as possible, the cost is $1.00 each. Each person who donates to this dedication will have his (or her's) name imprinted on the dedication program as a means of showing gratitude to the donors.

The program will have commercial advertisements to assist the money raising. The minimum space is one-fourth page which will sell at $5.00. For each additional one-fourth page there is a charge of $5.00.

Following is a list of the Committee members: Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, Mr. Michael Barry, Mrs. Harriet Blaisdell, Mrs. Doretta Booker, Mr. Ernest Crispo, Mrs. Evelyn Doucette, Mr. Louis Doucette, Mrs. Irene Elfman, Mr. Thomas Galvin, Mrs. Charlotte Glover, Mrs. Ruth Gracyk, Mr. Joseph Grimes Jr., Mrs. May Hadley, Mr. Walter L. Hale Jr., Mr. Samuel Heller, Mrs. Roseanna Manning, Mr. Herbert Higginbotham Sr., Mr. Frederick Melzar, Mr. Maurice Modele, Mr. Joseph McMahon, Mrs. Mildred Neilson, Mr. Guy E. Nichols, Mr. Norman Perry, Mr. John Ritchie, Mr. Joseph Slater,

Mr. George Spanos, Mrs. Grace Tiley and Mr. Edwin Twomey.

Prankster Not So Funny

Wilmington firemen have been bothered recently by a so-called prankster whose work isn't the least bit funny. For two weeks now someone has been calling up on the emergency phone, used to report fires or other emergencies ONLY, when the phone was answered another party, evidently in the same place, would call up on the other phone and then both would hang up, leaving both Fire Station phones out of contact for some time.

Fire authorities and Telephone investigators are conducting an investigation into the matter. When the person or persons are caught there will be court action brought against them.

We're sure that they won't think that quite so funny.

Wilmington Police Seek Hit And Run Driver

Last Saturday evening at 9:20 p.m. a car owned and operated by Bernard Graham, of 123 Yale Street, Medford was involved in a collision with a hit and run driver. Concetta Graham of 123 Yale St., Medford was taken to her family doctor for injuries. The driver of the hit and run car pulled over to the side of the road after the accident and fled into the woods.

Investigating police learned that the hit and run car was apparently stolen and belonged to William Massaro. Massaro stated to Police that he had left his car parked in North Woburn and had gone to Winchester with a friend. When Massaro returned, he said, he discovered the car gone. Massaro then stated that he came to Wilmington in search of the vehicle but could find no trace.

Witnesses placed Massaro in Huntley's Lunch on Main Street, Wilmington about the time of the accident.

Wilmington Police questioned Massaro for some time and then released him.

Appointments Made To Civilian Defense Committee

George Kambour, Director of Civilian Defense has appointed Mr. Michael Barry and Mr. Herbert Higginbotham to the Wilmington Civilian Defense Town Committee.

As soon as additional information is received from State Headquarters, it is expected that this Committee will be expanded greatly.

Mr. Joseph A. Grimes of Church Street has been appointed Chief Observer for the Observation Post. As has been previously announced this Post is to be established in the Highway Building on a stand-by basis. It was decided to locate the observation post in this building, at least temporarily for several reasons. It commands a view satisfactory to USAF suggestions. It is centrally located and yet relatively quiet. All facilities necessary to operate the post are at present available without expense to the town.

It is expected that in the near future activity will be increased. A call will be issued for citizens to volunteer and receive training for one of the many Civilian Defense responsibilities which must be shared by all patriotic citizens.

Freak 3-Vehicle Boxcar Accident On Main Street

A wrecker, operated by Lawrence J. Mellon of Lowell, towing a tractor north on Main Street (near Gildart's Garage) played a predominant part in a freak accident which occurred Monday evening at 9:10 o'clock. The tractor which the wrecker was towing broke loose, went across the road and up the embankment crashing into a work train which was stopped at a siding. A truck, from the same concern as the wrecker, which was following, crashed into the wrecker and then into a telephone pole.

No one was injured, Wilmington Police reported, but there was considerable damage spread between the 3 vehicles, the boxcar and the telephone pole.

Irving Appleby Honored

Some 200 life guards, bath-house matrons and attendants employed by the Metropolitan District Commission along the Strandway of Dorchester and South Boston, gathered together at Dorgan's night club, South Boston to pay honor to Irving Appleby of Wilmington, Mr. Appleby is the Supt. of Metropolitan beaches and pools. The event was a gala testimonial banquet.

An elaborate program of music and dancing was followed by the presentation of an Encyclopedia and a dish set to Mr. Appleby. Speeches by prominent South Boston political leaders testified to the general satisfaction of all citizens over the changes that have been accomplished since the MDG has taken over the nine beaches in this five-mile ocean front.

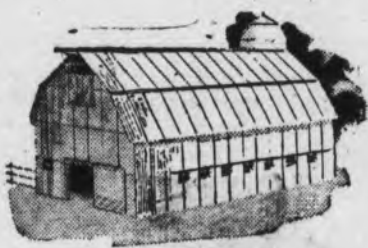

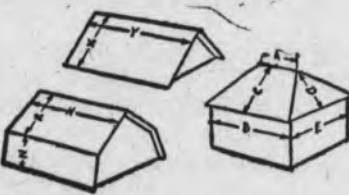

Ninety-six out of every 100 wounded soldiers in World War II who reached medical service were saved. This is the near-perfect record of the Army Medical Department, which celebrated 175 years of service on July 27.

The probability of a soldier in the United States Army dying of disease has decreased two-thirds in the past ten years, according to latest statistics of the Army Medical Department, marking its 175th Anniversary July 27.

Fight Farm Fires in 'Fifty!

Farm fires, like the one which reduced a valuable barn to the wreckage seen above, take an average yearly toll of 3,500 lives and cost a hundred million dollars in property damage. A large percentage of such fires result from chimney sparks, wind-carried embers and other external causes. Many farmers are taking steps to safeguard their buildings by covering roofs and sidewalls with asbestos-cement shingles, which cannot burn. Asbestos siding shingles are easily applied in the manner shown at the left. These asbestos materials are recommended for both homes and service buildings. They may be used either in new construction or in repair and remodeling.

Advantages of Dry Wall
A SURVEY made of 626 houses by Architectural Forum disclosed that dry wall construction was found second in importance in the list of techniques and materials used to reduce costs. First was close supervision, and tied for third were the use of power tools and precutting of lumber.

Builders participating in the survey had the opinion that by their cost-pruning techniques they can hold down the sales prices of the homes despite rising costs of land, material and labor.

Dry wall construction has a number of advantages, builders point out. It is economical as a material and as a saver of labor costs. Homes are more quiet and there is no prolonged "drying out" period as in wet wall construction.

Demand for dry wall construction began as an economy measure, but now, with the coming of improved panels, the public sees the many other advantages. Take, for example, one of the newest products recently introduced by a long-established maker of hardboards. It is Masonite quarter-inch panelwood, a sturdy, rigid, tough material made of exploded wood fibers.

Ideal for new construction or remodeling, panelwood can be applied directly over studding or furring strips, it will take and hold any applied finish, it is resistant to dents, scuffs and marks, it is grainless and smooth, and it won't crumble, crack, split or splinter. No wonder the American public favors dry wall construction! These hardboards are light in weight, easy to apply and long lasting. They are easily worked with ordinary carpenter tools. Panelwood, in addition, is moisture-resistant.

The Inquiring Reporter

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION: Do you believe that religion should be taught in the local schools?

MRS. HARRY HENDERSON, 23 Brentwood Avenue

"I have no special reason but I would like to see religion brought into the schools. I think it is a very good idea to teach religion in the schools."

MR. MARTELL, 191 Glen Road

"Yes, I think it should be taught in our school along with everything else. I think that it is needed these days and will give the boys and girls something to think about."

MR. BERNARD EATON, 80 Main Street

"Yes, I think it should be taught in the schools. I think it is very important for the children, especially for those who do not get to church at all."

It was decided to locate the observation post in this building, at least temporarily for several reasons. It commands a view satisfactory to USAF suggestions. It is centrally located and yet relatively quiet. All facilities necessary to operate the post are at present available without expense to the town.

It is expected that in the near future activity will be increased. A call will be issued for citizens to volunteer and receive training for one of the many Civilian Defense responsibilities which must be shared by all patriotic citizens.

Freak 3-Vehicle Boxcar Accident On Main Street

A wrecker, operated by Lawrence J. Mellon of Lowell, towing a tractor north on Main Street (near Gildart's Garage) played a predominant part in a freak accident which occurred Monday evening at 9:10 o'clock. The tractor which the wrecker was towing broke loose, went across the road and up the embankment crashing into a work train which was stopped at a siding. A truck, from the same concern as the wrecker, which was following, crashed into the wrecker and then into a telephone pole.

No one was injured, Wilmington Police reported, but there was considerable damage spread between the 3 vehicles, the boxcar and the telephone pole.

Irving Appleby Honored

Some 200 life guards, bath-house matrons and attendants employed by the Metropolitan District Commission along the Strandway of Dorchester and South Boston, gathered together at Dorgan's night club, South Boston to pay honor to Irving Appleby of Wilmington. Mr. Appleby is the Supt. of Metropolitan beaches and pools. The event was a gala testimonial banquet.

An elaborate program of music and dancing was followed by the presentation of an Encyclopedia and a dish set to Mr. Appleby. Speeches by prominent South Boston political leaders testified to the general satisfaction of all citizens over the changes that have been accomplished since the MDG has taken over the nine beaches in this five-mile ocean front.

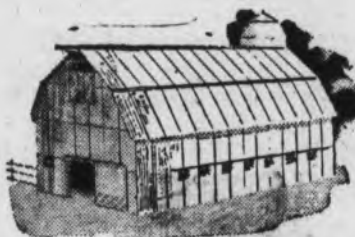

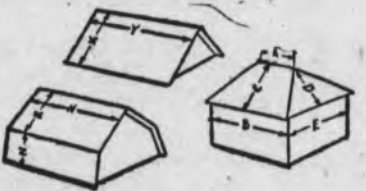

Ninety-six out of every 100 wounded soldiers in World War II who reached medical service were saved. This is the near-perfect record of the Army Medical Department, which celebrated 175 years of service on July 27.

The probability of a soldier in the United States Army dying of disease has decreased two-thirds in the past ten years, according to latest statistics of the Army Medical Department, marking its 175th Anniversary July 27.

Fight Farm Fires in 'Fifty!

Farm fires, like the one which reduced a valuable barn to the wreckage seen above, take an average yearly toll of 3,500 lives and cost a hundred million dollars in property damage. A large percentage of such fires result from chimney sparks, wind-carried embers and other external causes. Many farmers are taking steps to safeguard their buildings by covering roofs and sidewalls with asbestos-cement shingles, which cannot burn. Asbestos siding shingles are easily applied in the manner shown at the left. These asbestos materials are recommended for both homes and service buildings. They may be used either in new construction or in repair and remodeling.

Advantages of Dry Wall

A SURVEY made of 626 house builders by Architectural Forum recently disclosed that dry wall construction was found second in importance in the list of techniques and materials used to reduce costs. First was close supervision, and tied for third were the use of power tools and precutting of lumber.

Builders participating in the survey had the opinion that by their cost-cutting techniques they can hold down the sales prices of the homes despite rising costs of land, material and labor.

Dry wall construction has a number of advantages, builders point out. It is economical as a material and as a saver of labor costs. Homes are more quiet and there is no prolonged "drying out" period as in wet wall construction.

Demand for dry wall construction began as an economy measure, but now, with the coming of improved panels, the public sees the many other advantages. Take, for example, one of the newest products recently introduced by a long-established maker of hardboards. It is Masonite quarter-inch panelwood, a sturdy, rigid, tough material made of exploded wood fibers.

Ideal for new construction or remodeling, panelwood can be applied directly over studding or furring strips, it will take and hold any applied finish, it is resistant to dents, scuffs and marks, it is grainless and smooth, and it won't crumble, crack, split or splinter. No wonder the American public favors dry wall construction! These hardboards are light in weight, easy to apply and long lasting. They are easily worked with ordinary carpenter tools. Panelwood, in addition, is moisture-resistant.

MR. MARTELL, 191 Glen Road

"Yes, I think it should be taught in our school along with everything else. I think that it is needed these days and will give the boys and girls something to think about."

MR. BERNARD EATON, 80 Main Street

"Yes, I think it should be taught in the schools. I think it is very important for the children, especially for those who do not get to church at all."
